

The mission of the MCABW is to provide a local forum for business women to develop and enhance relationships with their peers and to assist in personal and professional growth through leadership, education and networking. We are a non-profit organization dedicated to fostering success for its members by providing networking connections, promotional resources, educational programs, and leadership and growth opportunities.

MCABW is connected to local Chambers of Commerce, thus giving us insight to local business and market relevant programming. MCABW is a place to connect, a place to learn and a place to succeed in expanding your business and your sphere of influence.

Montgomery County Association of Business Women are professionals, community volunteers and business leaders –women of many ages, occupations, and backgrounds– who leverage their time, skills, relationships and resources to improve the quality of life in Montgomery County. Our association gives back to the community by sponsoring local non-profit organizations each quarter and by awarding scholarships to deserving, local female high school graduates as well as to our MCABW ladies to help further their education.

For more information, visit our website at MCABW.org, join us as a guest at one of our monthly luncheon meetings (see calendar on our website), or contact Carol Gooch at 713-256-8002.
